REPUBLICAN TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT,
BENJAMIN HARRISON,
OF INDIANA.
FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
LEVI P. MORTON.
OF NEW YORK.

SOME FOURTH-OF-JULY SENTIMENTS.

Now that the fire-cracker and the pistol are abroad in the land and orators are making spread-eagle speeches, it is well enough to pause for a while and see what progress this country has made in the past twenty-five years. When Joseph Parker came here from London to fill his pocket book with money and his head with American knowledge, he started from New York westward. Before he reached St. Paul, he was forced to exclaim: "The vastness of this country makes me tired," and he gave up in despair of ever being able to see the half of it, and he returned home in disappointment. He expected to see a one-horse country like Europe; but the multitude of cities, the succession of states, the grandeur of our national progress, the incomprehensibility (to a foreigner) of American enterprise, and the matches possibilities of the nation, blazed the hope that he could see ten of our greatest, and the poor man, who thought the Americans were half-asleep, went home without understanding how the government could thresh two millions of rebels, established the best currency system in the world, pay a billion of debt in twenty years, spread its manufacturing industries, turned the people better homes than any other nation under the sun, and march on with strides so gigantic as to appear that there had not been a fuss down south at all.

The young men and the boys who will celebrate with more enthusiasm than the older people, do well to mix a few important and interesting figures with their patriotic, and see what kind of a country the United States is.

There are men 50 years old, and yet they are not old men, who remember when there were no steamboats to cross the ocean. Now there are palace steamers that cross the Atlantic in as many days as it took weeks when these men of fifty were small boys.

There are men of fifty years who remember when there were practically no railways on this continent, and when the fastest vehicle was the stagecoach.

Men of 45 remember when there was not a single telegraph line in all the country, and all messages were sent by the plodding mail coach.

Every young man of 25 will remember when there was not telephones, and now every town and city has its exchange, and the country has 300,000 miles of wire.

In 1860 there were only 30,000 miles of railways in the United States. In 1887 there were 150,000.

In 1860 the value of all the real and personal property in the United States was $1 billion, while in 1885 it had reached 60 billions.

In 1860 there was less than $150,000,000 in the savings banks of the country, and in 1887 the deposits reached $1,157,807,000. Massachusetts alone now has more money in savings banks by $150,000,000 than the entire country had twenty-five years ago.

In 1860 there were only 87,000 school houses in the United States. In 1888 there were 265,000.

There is not another country on the globe that has advanced so marvellously as the United States. There is not another country under the sun in which so many young men are building homes as in this. There is not another country anywhere in which so many young men and women are coming to the front as political leaders, inventors, teachers, scientists and professors.

The "good old times" we hear so much about, when the men of middle age were boys, were days of ignorance and darkness compared with 1888. The fastest vehicle then was the old canoe. Now magnificent vestibuled trains speed in every direction and across the continent in as many hours as it used to take days.

It is a grand country for everything that is wonderful and progressive. The young men of to-day should ponder these things and thank God that they live in a country where possibilities, advantages, resources and inducements, command the admiration of the world.

A DEMOCRAT DEFENDING HANSON.

Ex-Senator J. E. McDonald, of Indiana, known as "Old Sodaboggs," is one of the old-time democrats of Indiana. He is a strong partisan. He never says anything good of a republican simply to tickle the vanity of his political opponents. But he has known General Harrison for years, and the other day he told the New York Sun that "Gen. Harrison is a good man. You don't find any one here saying anything against him. He has fair ability, and he is an excellent representative of republican principles. He's as bigoted as the most intolerant could desire."

The ex-senator says, speaking of the charge that General Harrison was opposed to the railway men in the strike of 1877, that he was only one of the committee on public safety during the strike of that year, and one of the sub-committees along with himself (McDonald), ex-Governor Porter, ex-Governor Baker, and Franklin Landre, who held a conference with a committee of the strikers. The committee, one and all, promised to help the employees of the railroad in any way they could, recognized their right to quit work when dissatisfied, but plainly told them that when they attempted to prevent others from working they were simply law breakers. General Harrison agreed with the committee and spoke to the men in the same spirit that Senator McDonald did, and every other member of the committee, and the attempt to now raise a disturbance about his part in that affair will only show his loyalty to the people and his consideration for the laboring men in a time of distress.

When such a sturdy democrat as Joseph E. McDonald, who has known General Harrison for many years, will defend him in this public, outspoken fashion, it is time for the little dogs of the party to stop barking.

When General Ben. Harrison was defeated for re-election to the United States senate by Tipton, many of his friends considered it a misfortune. But it has proved to be his good fortune. He was out of power and out of place, and that gave him an additional advantage in the minds of the people. Had he cast in the ballot some private vote which would have prejudiced some sections in the estimation of New York and New England. When the bond measure bill came up in April he was fortunately out of the senate.—Evening Wisconsin.

In like manner it was considered at the time a misfortune for the country that Lincoln was defeated by Douglas for the senate in 1858. But it proved a national blessing in disguise. Had Lincoln won the fight in the memorable "battle of the giants," it is not likely he could have been nominated for the presidency. His wonderful speeches attracted the attention of the political world, and his defeat secured for him the presidency.

John Jarrett, the labor-leader, expresses himself as well satisfied with the republican ticket. He says the nomination of Harrison and Morton is a good one, and the platform is excellent, every issue being clearly drawn. I called at the headquarters of several labor organizations to-day, and find the sentiment of all labor leaders is that better platform could not be framed. They did not express themselves very strongly on the candidates, merely saying that they were satisfied with them. The laboring people know that he has been in sympathy with them for years. The platform is clear cut to the point, and I have heard many of our leaders who are democrats express their determination to vote for the republican nominee."

The Atlanta Journal wants to know why the republican party left it to a democratic administration to reduce the rate of postage on letters from 3 to 2 cents. The Journal is hopelessly ignorant. The reduction in question was made by a republican administration, and went into effect on October 1, 1883. In advocating a further reduction, therefore, the republican party is simply in line with its settled policy.

There seems to be a mollie of opinions on Cleveland's tariff position. The wags support him because he believes in free trade. The southern protectionists support him because he is a protectionist; and Henry George and his followers, and Henry Watterson support him because he is a pronounced believer in free trade. It is not often that you can find a man like Cleveland who can face every way on the tariff.

Sam Randall is reported to have said that when he takes the stump to say that the St. Louis platform does not attack the protection of American industries he will be insane. Mr. Randall is one of those men who cannot be blinded by prejudices. He also knows how to read English and understand it.

The republicans of New York seem to have elected Warner Miller governor in advance of his nomination. This is all right. The republicans of New York are going to march to victory, and the democrats will stampede for the woods.

General Sherman is for the republican ticket. He fights the democracy on the same principle that he fought against the rebellion.

The Opening of the Canneries.

To open the campaign with any hopes of speedy success, attack the census, instead, before it has a chance to interfere.

An obituary fee will prevail if you don't go right at it. If you are prudent, too, you will have fortified, upon the first intimation of its presence in your neighborhood, Hostetter's Stomach Listerine, the medicinal ammunition that you require.

Every form of material fever yields to this fine preventive remedy.

For constipation, liver complaint, dyspepsia, nervousness and kidney trouble it is less effective. Residents of rural localities, and persons residing in or bound for the great west, should select this medicine as a means of defense against the frequent visitations of miasma. Those in delicate health, the aged and infirmed, should in every instance resort to this singular invigorant.

On the opening of the cannery.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at Frank Shuler & Co.'s Drug Store as their giving away to their customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous, and this very valuable article, from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coupland, Colles, Ashton Brothers, Croup, and all throat and lung diseases quickly cured. You can test before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size $1. Every bottle warranted.

A CARD.

For all who are suffering from the creeps and agitations of youth, nervous weakness, rheumatism, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you FREE OF CHARGE. Intercepted recently by a missionary in South America. Send a soft addressed envelope to the undersigned, S. A. LEWIS, San Fran, Cal.

Advice to Masters.

Mrs. Winslow's Secretaries should always be used for children nothing. It soothes and relieves the pains, always all pain, cure quickly, and the best remedy for diphtheria. $2.50 a dozen.

Now supply of blank books, embracing

A SUCCESSFUL BLUFF.

How Representative Anderson
Gagged the House.

HE KILLS AN IMPORTANT BILL.

The Senate Passes the River and Harbor Bill, the Homestead Clause Included —Turp on the Tariff—The Chief-Judgeship.

THE HOUSE HELD AT DAY.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Taking advantage of the rules of the House and the liberality of the speaker, Representative Anderson (Ran.) yesterday enabled the previous question to overrule the consideration of the bill to refund the debt of the Union Pacific railroad to the Government. It was what is known as "individual suspension day," when the Speaker has the right to recess.

Mr. Anderson, member of the floor committee, passed the rules and gave his usual measure. It was well known that the Speaker, after a conference with the President, who is very much interested in securing a settlement of the Union Pacific indebtedness by the passage of this bill, had agreed to recognize Mr. Outhwaite (O.), the chairman of the Committee on Pacific Railroads, and that Mr. Outhwaite would support the Speaker's motion to pass this bill. But Mr.
Anderson did not permit the motion to be carried, giving the time allowed for the introduction of new bills, and offered at the Speaker's desk the confirmation of the laws of the District of Columbia, which makes up of six or seven hundred pages, in lieu of a bill, and then called for a reading of the same. The clerk stood at his desk and read in a low tone for two or three hours, when some one seeing the reading would have accompanied during the afternoon to accomplish the same. The Speaker then adjourned until the next morning and returned to the House under its present rules, adjourned again. This proposition was adopted, and so the entire day was wasted. Mr. Anderson secured at the document-room all of the long bills that he could get his hands on and had prepared them for introduction and reading, ready simply to kill time. This finishes the Union Pacific Funding bill for this session. It is dead beyond resurrection.

RIVERS AND HARBOURS.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The River and Harbor bill was finally passed by the Senate yesterday afternoon with the waterway and Homestead amendments included as they were adopted by the committee of the whole.

This was passed by the Senate appropriations, as passed by the Senate appropriations, an amount of $22,474,783, an increase of $12,000 over the amount appropriated by the measure as it passed the House. There was a long discussion over the proposed amendment to abolish the Mississippi River Commission, during which Senator Fair (Mass.) made a vigorous denunciation of the criticism and abuse so generally indulged in by the press of the country. He had no objection to river and harbor bills. He had no objection to the Senate's action in this matter, as they were adopted by the committee of the whole.

The Mother and Sister of the Murderer Arrive in St. Louis.

St. Louis, July 3.—Mrs. S. M. Brooks, mother of Hugh M. Brooks, alias Maxwell, the murderer of Prentiss, and her daughter Annie, arrived here yesterday morning and were met at the depot by Maxwell's attorney, P. W. Penruel, at whose house they will stop while they remain in this city. Mrs. Brooks is about forty years old and shows no marks of suffering which it is believed caused her. The woman is only 36, but is a finished scholar and helps her father in teaching French and German. During the forenoon the ladies were driven to the jail, where they had an interview with young Maxwell. They were not permitted to enter the prisoner's apartment, but held their interview through the screen separating the visitors from the jail proper. When they left, the officer who accompanied them said Maxwell was a good boy.

BATTLE WITH DESPERADOS.

Three Men Killed and Another Wounded in a Conflict in Indian Territory.

MUSKOGEE, Okla., July 3.—A desperate fight between United States officers and two notorious desperados took place at a green corn dance near Eufaula, Okla., yesterday. United States Marshals and McGowen, the chief of police, were with the exception of one man, escaped.

Sojourning there near the fighting grounds they awaited their opponents. About 1 o'clock two of the incipient desperados were shot dead. One of the men was a Negro, and the other was a white man. Both were shot in the head. The officers commanded them to surrender when the two brothers drew their pistols and commenced firing.
Phillips was killed almost instantly. Mc-Gowen continued fighting at the officers until he was riddled with bullets.
Before he died he fatally injured Waddell.

The Pope and Ireland.

LONDON, July 3.—The Chronicle's Rome correspondent says that Cardinal Moran is in a lengthy conversation with the Pope, while supporting the condemnation of the plan of campaign and boycotting advices that Pope not to take too stern a view of the National movement, the Catholic Irish should be allowed to act according to their own inclinations without fear of the Vatican. The Pope seems to have been influenced, and it is probable that he will publish a circular in future, while secretly enforcing his views upon the Irish episcopacy.

WILLIAM H. IN DOUBT.

BOSTON, July 3.—Emperor William receives almost unanimous sentiments hostile to Austria. The Prussian throne, Zetton (free conservatist) says

England should not be mentioned in the speech from the throne, and adds that something will be heard of English interference with German affairs.

Caught $10,000.

MOSCOW, July 3.—The stage running between this place and Ilford was stopped yesterday afternoon by masked men, who jumped from behind rocks and compelled the express messenger to throw down his gun. They then forced the messenger and driver to hand over the express box containing $10,000 in silver bullion.
The robbers escaped.

Dying from Starvation.

for forging a will which made them heirs to the property of a peculiar old woman, known as Martha Hall McDonald. Beckwith was a medical student and a politician.
Yesterday he and his wife were sentenced to the penitentiary for four years each.

Cost of the Convention.

CURACAO, July 3.—The local expenses of the Chicago convention was a well-being and close representation of the members and friends of the organization. The the lord and master claim of protecting them, cared only for themselves; who had learned nothing of popular interests except to betray them. The candidate

WARNING.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other.
It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tu-berculous Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start to life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight swelling and induration in the throat and lungs.

They leave for the Line City on the 9:20 train to-morrow.

The building committee, reported that they had asked to have water furnished to the schools, but had been told that the city must lay services all the way from buildings to mains. THE CAR TRAIL AGRONOMIST.

Street cars will now no longer in the fourth ward.

"Yes, sir, we shall commence tearing up the Montague line of the street car track this afternoon," said Mr. Clark of the Janesville Street Railway, this morning, in answering a question regarding rumors to the effect that the line was to be abandoned. "The people down that way never patronized the road, while the boys have been a source of considerable trouble to us. It has been no small job to keep the road in even possible order, and it never paid a cent. We have therefore concluded to abandon the line on Jackson, Pleasant and Cherry streets and Western avenue, and a force of men will commence work this afternoon tearing up the track and ties. We shall put all the cars on the main line and hope to accommodate all the people on that section."

"We intend to pave the track between the rail as fast as possible, and shall put the entire line in first class shape."

"I hardly think we shall make any more extensions of track; at least, until we get the present line in good shape. Then, should the service and patronage demand extensions, of course, we shall do our utmost to please the public."

It appears that the fourth ward portion of the line has ever been a source of much trouble and expense to the company, and it has not been patronized as anticipated when built, compels the tearing up of the track and abandonment of that line in order to save future expensive and unremunerative outlays.

The drivers on that line have been in the habit of throwing stones at passing cars and frequently officers have been compelled to act as guards to keep the boys at bay.

MUCH VIGOROUS KICKING.

The Milwaukee Street Pavement May Go Into Court.
